ATHENS, Feb. 15.—Authorities, revealing that Italy has lost 20,000 men since General Ugo Cavallero took over command of the Albanian campaign exactly one month ago, today flatly denied that any peace negotiations are under way.

"Italy imposed this war on us," said a government spokesman, "and Italy will have to bear it to the bitter end—which means until her total defeat. Any information to the contrary should be disregarded completely."

Other dispatches from the front said the Greeks, after a fierce battle, captured the strategically important village of Malina near the source of the Skumbi river.

Britain Admits 'Chute Troops Used In Italy

(International News Service)
LONDON, Feb. 15.—British soldiers, attired in recognized military uniforms, have been dropped by parachute on sections of southern Italy recently, it was admitted officially in London today.

While it did not directly say so, the official announcement indicated some of the British parachute troops may have completed their task and escaped from the Italians. (Editor's Note: An Italian communique yesterday announced British parachute troops had landed in the Calabria-Lucania region of southern Italy in an attempt to sabotage communications and hydroelectric works. The Rome announcement said the attack was a failure and that all the parachutists were captured before they had a chance to do serious damage. (The Italians charged the British parachutists were disguised in civilian attire and wore neither military insignia nor regular uniforms. This was interpreted as an indication Italy may execute the captured men as spies instead of intern them as prisoners of war.) British authorities declared the parachute troops had been instructed to demolish certain objectives connected with ports in southern Italy. "No statement can be made at present about the results of the operations, but some of the men have not returned to their base," it was stated.

Lease-Lend Bill
Would Suspend
Many U. S. Laws

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The far-reaching lease-lend bill, either directly or by implication, suspends provisions of 29 laws affecting the army, navy and state departments, it was disclosed today in a report filed with the Senate foreign relations committee.

The measure department lawyers reported, would permit President Roosevelt to purchase war materials in foreign nations producing them by "forced labor"—a ban written into law 11 years ago by Congress as a direct slap at Soviet Russia.

Although pointing out that the measure does not suspend American labor laws, the navy lawyers disclosed nevertheless that the bill would permit the president to buy materials in foreign countries in disregard of the eight hour law. The suspension, it was explained, is brought about by a provision in H. R. 1776 which says that the president may operate the lease-lend system "notwithstanding the provisions of any other law."

It was revealed that Alexander, in a speech at Bath yesterday, referred to the German shipping menace and then remarked:

"We also captured a few yesterday (Thursday) but I cannot give any details."

Alexander did not specifically say that ships had been captured, but the context of his speech led to the general assumption that a few German ships had been seized.

London evening papers this afternoon interpreted the remark in this light and published headlines stating:

"Nazi ships captured, says First Lord."

Court Decides Dean Is Guilty In First Degree

Confessed Slayer Of Sister-In-Law Is Sentenced In Court Today

CRIME TOOK PLACE IN JUNE LAST YEAR

Helen Nasal Was Found Slain In Field In Shemango Township

For the murder of his sister-in-law, Helen Nasal, on the night of June 13, 1940, Arthur F. Dean, 35 years old, of Jackson avenue, was today sentenced to life imprisonment in Lawrence county court by Judge W. Walter Braham. Dean had pleaded guilty to the crime and the testimony in the case was heard by Judge Thomas W. Dickey who died before he could hand down an opinion. Judge Braham then took the notes of testimony.

Dean was brought into sentence court by Sheriff M. M. Ingham about ten o'clock. He stood in front of the bench where Judges Braham and Matthews sat. With no preliminaries Judge Braham read his opinion that Dean was guilty of murder in the first degree.

Sentenced For Life
After explaining that two penalties are possible for first degree murder, life imprisonment or the electric chair, Judge Braham said "you are now sentenced to imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for the rest of your natural life."

As the sheriff started to take Dean away he said to the court, "may I speak," to which the court replied in the affirmative.

"Will you let me see that knife" asked Dean.

"As I understand it the knife was never found," said Judge Braham, to which District Attorney John G. Lamoree nodded affirmation.

"I can see my way out of that place when I get down there," said Dean in a defiant manner as he was being led away.

Dean Is Bitter
In his cell later Dean was bitter at the punishment. "I was framed," he said sullenly. Just what the Well friends the sun is in today, the air is filled with flying snow and that takes care of sunny poems, and that was one that didn't go. Japan Seeks To Quiet Many Rumors

Formal Statement Is Issued At Tokyo

Japanese Nationals Are Urged To Continue Business As Usual

SOME CONCERN HAS DEVELOPED

(International News Service)
TOKYO, Feb. 15.—The Japanese government issued a formal statement today, stating Japanese Nationals abroad not to be alarmed by rumors of war between Japan and the United States.

The statement advised Japanese citizens to continue business as usual. It added:

"Information has reached Tokyo to the effect unrest prevails in the Japanese colonies on the American continents due to sensational reports circulated in North and South America that the situation between Japan and the United States is marked by extreme tension.

"It is true that the situation between Japan and the United States gives some cause for concern, but it is unwarrantable to jump to the hasty conclusion that the situation of the two countries might be taken over by so bad an eventuality as war.

Some Concern
Editor Note: Yesterday in Washington the new Japanese ambassador to the United States, Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, presented his credentials to President Roosevelt with a statement that present Japanese-American relations are such "as to cause considerable concern on both sides of the Pacific ocean." President Roosevelt in reply agreed there have been developments which warrant concern.

"Needless to say," the Japanese statement added, "Both the Japanese and American governments are doing everything in their power to prevent the situation from coming to such a pass.

"Vigorous propaganda now going on abroad, representing the situation as extremely aggravated, must be ascribed to ulterior motives of some foreign elements."

measures sometime next week. The $13,000 will be borrowed and guaranteed by delinquent taxes.

The buildings which the city acquired through the deal are: the building known as the nail mill; the building known as the storeroom; the hospital.

Further, the city acquired land, which through a WPA project will permit the city to carry out a proposed project which will remove a "bottle-neck" in the Shenango river and permit the city to establish a channel line as called for.

The negotiations for Mr. Deitch were conducted by Max Kadane of New Kensington. The legal phase of the negotiations for the city were conducted by Solicitor White. The deal was made during a formal meeting of council, attended by all members.

Two Boiler Houses.

There are two boiler houses on the site. In regard to these White stated:

"If someone wants to open a plant in the brick boiler house the city will pay Mr. Deitch for the scrap and the city will take the building."

"The city has the right, up to the time it is to be demolished, to buy it for whatever price may be offered by anyone else, or for that actual market value of the scrap metal it contains."

Deitch intends to sell the steel boiler house for scrap. Solicitor White asserted that the scrap metal in the nail building is worth to the city between $6,000 and $10,000. The city also acquires 1200 feet of good side track, consisting of rails and ties.

Mr. Deitch acquired the site recently for the purpose of salvaging all metal possible, excepting that which is to be acquired by the city through the purchase.

One of the ordinances introduced and which will be adopted, White indicated, next week provides for the purchase and the payment.

The second ordinance is known as the authority bill and permits the city to do certain things, in regard to taxes, the city now is unable legally to do.

To Provide Sites

Plainly council acquired the ground and buildings to be in a position to do business with any responsible firm or person who wants to bring a plant into New Castle.

Negotiations have been under way for several weeks. Most of the business has been handled by council through Solicitor White.

Councilmen have time and again attempted to stimulate industry here and Friday's move shows plainly they are willing to do everything legally possible to accomplish this.

It was indicated by Solicitor White that the Greater New Castle Association and the Junior Chamber of Commerce are negotiating with prospects whom the organizations would like to have locate here. Acquisition by the city of the site and buildings may prove an aid to the negotiations, it was asserted.

ENGAGEMENT REVEALED AT "COLONIAL PARTY"

Amidst a quaint colonial setting, with lighted candles in banching candelabrum providing the only light, the essence of burning tallow and the rustling of hoop skirts of taffeta worn by the women, brought to mind a gala party of the days long ago, when Mrs. C. O. Bird opened her lovely home at Volant, to a group of guests, all in colonial attire, to announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Carol Bird, who will become the bride of David Tomkins.

The event was especially lovely, and was carried out in keeping with the theme of an old fashioned St. Valentine's party.

The center of attraction was the bride-elect, attired in her mother's original wedding gown of pussy willow taffeta and oriental lace, with pearl trimmings.

Games and the showing of lantern slides provided appropriate diversion for the assemblage, and, at an appropriate hour, the hostess opening the doors to the dining room, aided her guests, with the exquisite setting, where lunch was served.

In tradition with the days when grandma played a music box, the setting of candles, and red hearts combined with lacy dollies, indeed provided a colorful picture. During this period, the news was revealed by the table centerpiece, which was composed of two large cakes in the shape of hearts, with the names inscribed "Carol and David" arranged on a corresponding scarlet cellophane cut-out dollie. Shasta daisy nosegays were used as table favors.

The bride-to-be, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bird of Volant, is a teacher in the Volant public schools. Mr. Tomkins, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tomkins of Canton, Pa., is affiliated with the New Castle Refractories as an engineer.

The date of the wedding, has not yet been made known.

BEIGHLEY-SMALL NEWS OF INTEREST LOCALLY

In the quaint and historic Greer residence located at 1219 Penn avenue in New Brighton on Friday evening one of the loveliest valentine announcement parties of the season took place, which is of interest to many New Castleites, when Mrs. Edward F. Beighley of 406 Thirty-Fifth street, Beaver Falls, entertained a host of 30 or more guests in honor of her daughter, Miss Dorothy Beighley.

The event provided a medium of making known the approaching marriage of Miss Beighley, granddaughter of Mrs. Margaret Robbins of North Walnut street, this city, who will become the bride of Frank Small, resident of New Brighton.

In the spacious living and dining rooms of the old homestead were arranged a series of individual tables, which were cleverly appointed in the valentine motif, for the playing of cards. At the close of the featured contests lovely trophies for honors were awarded to Mrs. Henry McCoy and Mrs. H. Ray Dammiller, both of the Beaver Valley, and Mrs. George J. Sellers of Pittsburgh.

The news, which came as a surprise to the assemblage, was cleverly told in dainty corages given each guest. They were arranged in the form of a double heart, covered with pussiwillows and choice flowers, which concealed a single miniature heart bearing the inscription "Dot and Frank—March 15, 1941."

Upon making this discovery, excitement ensued when the bride told of her wedding plans. The ceremony will be performed in a church at Beaver Falls in the evening. Miss Beighley and Mr. Small are well known in New Castle, visiting frequently with relatives and friends.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

CITIZENS OF FUTURE

Citizenship does not consist alone of holding property rights and privilege to vote and be elected to an office. Such are relatively minor parts of citizenship. For such, at best, long years of good training are necessary; and this training begins at home.

Yes; citizenship begins at home and the home determines primarily the quality of citizenship it will be in the large social order.

The first essential is a pair of parents who are worthy citizens, therefore persons of good character and ideals; a pair of parents, moreover, who understand the child and guide him to gain good habits and ideals.

Beginning with the baby, these parents train the growing child in self-reliance and responsibility. They cultivate in him a deep regard for the rights of others.

Home Training

Being trained at home for good citizenship, the child learns the meaning of No. He learns there are certain things he must not do even long before he knows the reason why, but which forbidding eventually will seem reasonable to him. He also learns there are certain things he must do and that their doing can make him and others happy. In a home of understanding, sympathy and security—in a home where everybody really loves everybody else—he learns to be trusted. Others can count on his word and depend upon him. The child in the stores speak well of him, so do the neighbors, so do the teachers at school.

He learns to share in the responsibilities of the home and to do some things there to help, even some dangerous.

Learn Self Denial

He does not have nearly all his wishes satisfied. He learns self-denial and self-sacrifice. He is not given too many things nor too much money but he learns to appreciate the value of those things which he has. He learns to be careful of his own things, of the property in his home, and of other people's property. He learns to handle money wisely. He learns to hand to and defer to others, especially to people older than himself. He gains the spirit of "after you" and acquires good manners. In the last analysis, good manners typify consideration of the rights of others. They are dampers to our selfishness.

When he makes a promise he will keep it. When he assumes a responsibility he will carry it through to the best of his ability. His first concern is not about himself. He tries to think of others and their welfare. He is growing into healthy citizenship.

The World and the Mud Puddles

The smashing drives of British Empire fighters in North Africa which toppled Bardia and Tobruk have again brought into prominence that new factor in lightning warfare—motorized equipment.

As in German's conquest of France and the Low Countries, the use of motorized equipment to speed supplies and personnel, and to keep field guns close behind fast-moving mechanized units, was a major secret of the Anzac's rout of Italy's forces at Tobruk.

It is not a secret being overlooked by the U. S. Army. Its evaluation of motor transport for facility of movement and economy of operation has already guaranteed that in motorized military equipment this nation will shortly rank second to none. Within the next ten months, it was announced last week, the army expects to take delivery of 210,000 motor vehicles, bringing the total of such units to 250,000. Meanwhile, the War Department has asked the governors of forty-eight states to assist in clearing the way for interstate movement of troops and supplies by highways. As Major General E. B. Gregory stated, "The extensive use of motor transport by our army is essential to the rapid movement of personnel and equipment."

Although a newcomer in the transportation family, motor transport has already won its spurs on the fields of battle in Europe and Africa and in the peace-time service of America.

CHARACTER

I never turn away a jest or bid a pleasure quit my door.
Right glad am I to stop and rest or caper on the ballroom floor;
But when vacation hours have fled
I'm back to work a man must go.
For on the fields of idleness the fruits of purpose never grow.

I'm certain men were meant to laugh or laughter were to us denied.
He walks life's path to see but half who treads it always solemn-eyed.
But comedy is for the hour, as are the merry dance and song.
And little in the fields of play will ever last for very long.

The rest, the change and freshened mind upon the fields of mirth we gain.
Tis there a little while we find forgetfulness of grief and pain.
But back to toil we all must come to tire once more and be afraid.
For 'tis where life's tasks are met the stuff called character is made.

Personally, we are in favor of keeping war out of the United States no matter how much money it costs.

Free speech is no excuse for talking too much.

There was talk of destroying the mules at an army camp on account of their extreme age, as if anybody could tell when a mule is old.

In some places women are being hired as taxicab drivers. Well, that might be an improvement. It will be sumpin' to look at anyhow.

If you are good, a few people will find it out eventually. If you are bad, the news will spread rapidly.

Americanism is a feeling, not a system.

Very often we hear the expression, "She looks as if she had been poured into her dress." It looks in some cases as if there was too much pouring.

How would you say in Shakespearean English, "Here comes the bowlegged man?"

"Behold! Aha! What is this I see walking in parenthesis?"

Always there is somebody to the satisfaction of all concerned that a foolproof gadget won't work.

People aren't fooled. The words "color added" stamped on an orange mean: "This darned thing is green."

The government expects more revenue from taxes than ever before. There are a lot of people who already know that.

About 1,500 new automobiles are being turned out in an hour in this country now. It will not be long until most people have two or more.

Another fault in Democracy is that well-meaning imbeciles can ruin all of us and yet suffer no punishments except that of hearing: "I told you so."

The maddening part is that the people who care most, and most clearly foresee our danger, are the ones who have no authority.

What's What At A Glance

National Capital Is Being Jammed
Defense Workers Add To Congestion
Job Applicants Sit Around Waiting

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—If ever there was a population-congested area, Washington and its surrounding suburbs so classify at present. The rate at which defense workers are piling into the capital beats all records. The city itself can't begin to absorb them, so they sleep over in hotels and in the white-collar jobs in the many and rapidly expanding executive setups engaged in promotion of the defense program.

And, besides these the government's hiring, there's the army of applicants for positions on Uncle Sam's payroll.

Furthermore, they bring families with 'em—wives and children.

The hotels are jammed, of course, but the overwhelming bulk of the new arrivals aren't seeking for hotel accommodations. They expect to live in the capital or near to it, for quite a while anyway, and want housekeeping apartments, or rooms by the week or month, or boarding houses, or quarters with private families. It's getting to be darned hard for 'em to find places to bunk in.

Naturally, rental rates are skyrocketing. There's talk of legislation to control 'em. The difficulty is that, if it's enacted, a lot of householders with spare space available, provided they can get their price for it, simply won't rent it at all, thus aggravating the situation.

Rents Up And Down

Washington always has been, periodically, a mean place for its tenant population, because, with congress in session, it invariably is crowded, and landlords have made a practice of hiking their rates correspondingly while the lawmakers' sessions lasted. During Capitol Hill's recesses, however, there have been slumps and the tenants have scored for awhile.

There was a fearful crash when 1917's war workers descended on the city. It wasn't relieved at that war's end, either, as had been expected. Governmental personnel proved to be permanently added to. Therefore,

Words Of Wisdom

If a great change is to be made in human affairs, the minds of men will be fitted to it; the general opinions and feeling will draw that way. Every fear and hope will forward it, and they who persist in opposing this mighty current will appear rather to resist the decrees of Providence itself, than the mere designs of men.—They will not be so much resolute and firm as perverse and obstinate.—Burke.

The Great Game Of Politics

"Social Changes"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.

THE return of Mr. Harry Hopkins from London will be followed very soon by the arrival there of the new Ambassador, Mr. John Winant, and his assistant, Mr. Benjamin Cohen. The understanding is that they will leave before the end of the month.

THE more it is considered that these three gentlemen were picked personally by the President, and none of them by the State Department, the clearer it becomes that there is an influential group within this Administration which has its thought concentrated upon the "social changes" which are expected to follow the war rather than upon the war itself.

IN this group are the chief Presidential advisers, men closer to him personally than any others, whose advice he has taken so often that it is almost recognized routine. Most of them are anti-business; some are openly referred to as collectivists. To them is attributed a large measure the saturation of the defense setup with professional labor leaders and the rejection of the single-headed form of organization which worked so well in the last war. Their view is reflected in the President's recent press conference comment upon the "great social changes which impend" and his remark to a Senatorial caller that after the war there would be a "general reshuffle socially over there"—meaning England.

IT has been stated so often by those in position to know that Mr. Hopkins' principal mission to England was to discuss "social conditions" with Mr. Bevan, the Labor member of the Churchill Cabinet, that it is now generally accepted as a fact. Mr. Hopkins, as the President's personal representative, was, of course, warmly received by the Prime Minister and shown everything. But, it is asserted, his primary object was to talk with Mr. Bevan and report to Mr. Roosevelt on the "social changes" abroad. It is a more reasonable explanation for sending him over than any other, because, while he has no equipment for grasping financial, business, military, trade or strategy problems, he has a background as a welfare worker and is keenly interested in "social changes."

THE Winant appointment was made entirely because of his acquaintance with Mr. Bevan and his so-called "progressive" labor record. As one Administration aide expressed it, "he is a labor ambassador." What Mr. Winant really is is a New Dealer of the extreme type, who is hot for "social changes," as he made very clear the other night in his first public address since his confirmation. As to Mr. Cohen, "social change" is his dish. He and his friend, Mr. Corcoran, with other kindred New Deal spirits, have been working for "social changes" very hard for the past eight years. Fundamentally, their idea of desirable "social change" seems to be the abandonment of the existing economic system; but they are not only vague but unharmonious as to what should be used as a substitute. Cloudiness on this subject has been typical of the New Deal intelligentsia from the start. It still is.

MR. WINANT and Mr. Cohen are a strange pair to send to England at this time, but they fit into the pattern which their New Deal associates are beginning to weave abroad and into the defense mechanism at home. So far as Mr. Churchill is concerned, anyone whom Mr. Roosevelt chooses to send to London naturally will be warmly welcomed by him. They may be congenial social changers or soap-bubble demagogues or anything else. If Mr. Roosevelt sends them, it is all right with Mr. Churchill. His country can win the war only through Mr. Roosevelt's help, and Mr. Churchill has set his mind on winning the war. But if there were less thought in Washington about these social changes and more about arming ourselves and aiding England, the chances would improve.

THINGS are not being helped, either here or over there, by those who chiefly see in this war an opportunity to promote the social and economic reforms to which they are attached. The President could find no better way of speeding up his defense program than by evincing sharp disapproval of those individuals around him who are clamoring about keeping "social gains" which are hampering production and fomenting trouble because of their resentment toward anyone not in accord with their half-baked radical ideas.

there wasn't the anticipated shrinkage in tenancy.

As soon as realtors realized this they began to build furiously. By 1932 things were pretty satisfactory. Then in came the New Deal with another bulge in the number of federal employees, and the town began to be crowded again.

Now, with congress going almost everlastingly and with defense work rampant, conditions rapidly are approaching the extreme limit.

Housing isn't the only problem. At the hour when the government's hirings are going to work, the hour when they're quitting there isn't enough room on downtown sidewalks. There's discussion of the desirability of staggering the departments' and agencies' going-to-work and quitting hours, to avoid such intolerable crowding.

Street cars and buses are packed until their passengers' tongues stick out. It not only is frightfully uncomfortable; it's dangerous.

During rush periods you can't get a taxicab. There's only a given amount of surface to the District of Columbia and there isn't enough of it to accommodate all its would-be occupants when they're all out of doors simultaneously.

Motor Traffic
In 1917, when we got into the last World war, the District had 15,000 flivvers. Today it has 170,000. And that doesn't count the swarm that pours in from the outskirts. There must be at least as many of 'em as the District's own 170,000.

The mob's worrying local health authorities, incidentally, and no fooling. The situation's that serious. Dr. George C. Ruhland, in charge of District hospital facilities, has appointed a medical, dental and nursing committee, plus a Red Cross representative, to deal with the emergency.

Thank heaven, I live over in Alexandria, on the Virginia side of the Potomac, opposite Washington, and don't have to be in the District of Columbia except during business hours. At that, I have my troubles getting in and out of the latter. I try to dodge doing it just as the defense workers are getting onto their jobs and quitting. There's a little peace between times.

A true Fascist is a man who gets $50,000 a year and howls treason when a worker demands $22.50 a week instead of $20.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our son, Ralph Anderson, who departed this life one year ago today.

One year has passed with us apart. But the wound has never healed. The pain has never left our heart. Since your lips in death were sealed.

But God in his way doeth nothing amiss.

For our sorrow is nothing compared with his bliss.

I cannot say and I will not say That he is dead—he is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.

He has wandered into an unknown land. Sadly missed by his father and mother.

CHILD TRAINING
The mail I get from parents indicates that the disobedient child is the problem about which most fathers and mothers are concerned. And, fortunately, in a majority of the cases, I am convinced, it is the parents themselves who are to blame.

Training a child is a full-time, 24 hours a day job during their most formative years. Yet a great many parents consider that if they work at it for about an hour a day, they are doing their duty.

Few parents start soon enough to train a baby's habits. The time to start is the day he and his mother come from the hospital.

A baby even a few days old finds that if he cries, someone will pick him up. So he cries. This is one of the first training problems the new parent has to face.

"Oh, he's too young yet to start and train," the fond young mother may say. And there she makes her first mistake. I know it is hard to sit and listen to a child cry and cry. But when you convince yourself that he's warm and dry and that there's nothing wrong with the child and he's not once or twice, the crying will stop. As soon as he finds that such needless crying has no effect, then he gives it up.

Every time he breaks down his mother's resistance, then he is that much harder to train when the showdown does come—if ever.

Very early in life the child must learn that he must obey his parents. He must learn that there are certain things he must not do. Or if he does do these things, that life is to become unpleasant for him as well as the others.

Parents must be firm with a child when it comes to these rules that he mustn't break. It doesn't do to enforce a rule severely one day, and then a few days later, wink at some breach of it. The parent must be consistent.

Now, I'm not of the old "spare the rod and spoil the child" school of thought. Or, if I am, the word

Members Will Have Interesting Speaker At Dinner Meeting Monday Evening

MAJOR THOMAS DITTON

Members of the New Castle Executives Club and their ladies will have an opportunity of hearing one of the most interesting speakers of the season on Monday evening, when Major Thomas A. B. Ditton, noted military analyst, and the first flying reporter in the history of American dinner clubs, will report on what is being done to develop the newly acquired eight naval and air bases for American defense.

Major Ditton, a military analyst, has recently returned from an air trip which took him to these air and naval bases, and his report to Executives Club members will be the fulfillment of a commission from the Association Executives Clubs of America.

Born in America, the son of a prominent British political leader, and with a background of ten years as an officer in the British Army, during which time he saw service in the Royal Flying Corps, he was able to obtain information unavailable to other observers. As an American citizen, he appraises it from the American point of view.

RAINBOW TROUT
Being Raised

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., Feb. 15.—The Hershey trout hatchery has produced 25,000 rainbow trout which soon will be taking their beef liver nourishment to make them grow.

They will not be in readiness for this season's trout opening on April 15, but in another year they ought to give a good account of themselves on the anglers' light rod, or gracing the table. There has been a good flow of spring water not only for the brook trout—50,000 of which were hatched last December—but for the rainbows, now several days old.

The trays are kept under two inches of cold water, the temperature being 50 degrees and flowing in the pools at the rate of five gallons a minute, which is increased or decreased according to circumstances. When the rainbow trout are one month old they will be fed eight times a day, and as they grow older will be transferred to the rearing pools.

In the hatchery house are three Albino brook trout from 12 to 13 inches in length. They are not allowed in the big pools out-of-doors because of the danger of predatory animals or birds making off with these unusual, highly-prized fish.

INCOME TAX
IN A NUTSHELL

LOSSES FROM CASUALTIES, THEFT, AND WAGES

To be deductible, a loss arising from "fires, storms, shipwrecks, or other casualty" need not be connected with the taxpayer's trade or business. If his home or his automobile is destroyed by fire, or his summer bungalow damaged by flood or storm, he may claim a deduction for the loss sustained.

Loss of property by theft or burglary is an allowable deduction, and need not be incurred in trade or business. Hence, the loss occasioned by the theft of jewelry or an automobile used for pleasure and convenience is deductible. It must be established, however, that the property actually was stolen. Should circumstances attending the loss leave the owner in doubt as to whether it was stolen or lost, the claim would not be allowed.

Losses from wagering transactions are allowable only to the extent of the gains from such transactions.

A loss is deductible only in the year in which it is sustained, even though, as in the case of a theft or casualty, it may not be discovered until a later year. Losses compensated for by insurance or otherwise, of course, are not deductible. However, in the event the amount of insurance is not sufficient to recompense for the loss sustained, the excess of the loss over the amount of insurance is deductible.

In general, losses for which an amount may be deducted for income-tax purposes must be evidenced by closed and completed transactions, fixed by identifiable events, both side and actually sustained during the taxable period for which claimed. For instance, a person possessing stock of a corporation cannot deduct from gross income any amount claimed as a loss merely on account of shrinkage in value of such stock through fluctuation of the market or otherwise. In the case of an individual the loss allowable in such cases is that actually suffered when the stock is disposed of. If any security that is, shares of stock in a corporation, and the rights to subscribe for or to such shares, become worthless during the taxable year and are capital assets, the loss resulting therefrom shall, for income-tax purposes, be considered as a loss from the sale or exchange, on the last day of such taxable year of capital assets.

Title Chase By Snaring
36-34 Decision

Spearheaded by the talented Coy Craine, Wampum High's Indians continued their march toward the Section 20 championship by snaring Mt. Jackson, 36-34, Friday night on Mt. Jackson floor.

The capacity crowd was rewarded with a hair-raising battle. Mt. Jackson, out to avenge a two-point setback administered a few nights back, marched out front, 6-5, at the close of the first chapter. The rivals then battled on even terms, leaving the hardwood at the half time with a 15-15 score posted on the scoreboard.

The schoolboys put on a display of scoring power in the third Wampum, however, came out ahead with 18 points in the stanza to forge ahead, 33-29. The Indians managed to protect the slim lead in the finale, adding three more markers compared to five for the Mounties. Craine was the star performer for the Wampumites, flipping 18 points. Hervatine played his customary flashy game at guard. For Mt. Jackson, P. Razzano, who pocketed 26 markers last Wednesday, came back with another fine performance, hitting the lace for 13 more points.

Since New Wilmington bumped off Union, Wampum and New Wilmington are still deadlocked for the sectional bauble.

In the preliminary Mt. Jackson's reserves spilled the Wampum seconds, 32-18.

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—Completion of the pitching staff of the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today upon receipt of the signed contract of Bob Klinger, 30-year-old right hander.
The only two members of the team who have not yet signed are Arky Vaughn, short stop, and Al Anderson, a rookie, club officials said.

Leahy Selected As Irish Coach

Boston College Releases
Leahy From Contract So
He Can Serve His Alma Mater

(International News Service)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 15.—Notre Dame's football future today was entrusted to a Rockne-schooled graduate, Coach Frank Leahy, whose story-book team at Boston College brought him into the national grid spotlight last year.
Leahy, only 32 years old, was selected to succeed Elmer Layden as head football coach and athletic director at the Irish institution. The new mentor was to sign a contract, terms of which were not revealed, here late today.

Brings Assistants
The new coach will bring all his own assistants with him from Boston. However, Joe Boland, who was Layden's line coach and had been rumored as a possible successor to the post, was one of the first to step forward with high praise for Leahy's selection.
Leahy's assistants are Johnny Druze, end coach; Ed McKeever, backfield coach, and Joe McArdle, line coach. Druze attended Texas Tech and Notre Dame, and McKeever and McArdle are Fordham products. The new coaches will start spring football practice about March 7.

Falcons-Pulaskis To Battle Sunday

First Game Of Polish Championship Series Will Be Played At Falcon Hall

The basketball fans of the South Side are agog today over the impending battle Sunday afternoon at the Polish Falcon hall, when the Falcons will meet the K. Pulaski team of the Oakland district in the first of a two-game championship series.

The preliminary game between the reserves of both teams will start at 2:30 o'clock. No doubt the Falcon hall will be packed to capacity for the engagement.

Hatcheries Provide Huge Supply Of Fish For State

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—State hatcheries included the following: Brook, brown and rainbow trout, 1,393,330; black bass, 548,938; bream, 226,770; catfish, 498,793; pike perch, 2540; yellow perch, 228,895; suckers, 39,935; frog embryos, 14,508; minnows, 81,320; miscellaneous, 102,162.
Sums of money were saved at both hatcheries by the installation of refrigerated food storage plants where fish consume more than 2,200,000 pounds of food annually, according to Fish Commissioner French.

A pinch of this and that scrambled together to form a column:

As trim as a chorine, literally speaking, and in triple A physical condition following a winter of hunting, ice skating and just plain communication with the outdoors, blond Fred Shaffer shuffles off for Bradenton, Florida, on March 1 where he'll join the Louisville Colonels of the American Association Baseball League. From then on, Shaffer gets down to the serious business of whipping his right flipper in shape for his sixth stretch in the AA.

The 27-year-old athlete is in such excellent condition that he weighs 180 pounds which happens to be his playing weight. With close to 50 victories in his book the Highland Height resident hopes to flash his best. His reward would be a hop to the major leagues where he would chuck for the Boston Red Sox. While Shaffer's salary is not for publication, we are at liberty to inform our small circle that the genial pitcher has received a raise.

Davey Banks, ranked among the greatest players in the history of baseball, has finally quit the game. He has been named as manager of the New York Celtics, the team with which he gained fame during the past couple of decades. When Arndt Jorens quit his catching post with the New York Yankees, the move meant promotion for Tom Padden, Newark farm catcher. King Levinsky, who raked in plenty as a mittman, is now selling cigarette lighters, razor blades etc., in Chicago's Loop. Eddie Brietz reports.

HOPPE RETAINS BILLIARD TITLE

Defeats Jake Schaefer 50-34
In 39 Innings In Chicago

By FRED PROCTOR

(International News Service Sports Writers)
CHICAGO, Feb. 15.—Willie Hoppe, the 33-year-old New Yorker who has been collecting cue championships since he was a small boy, today was still the world's 3-cushion billiard champion.

Hoppe last night defeated Jake Schaefer of Chicago and Cleveland, 50-34 in 39 innings, to stave off Schaefer's bid for a share in the crown. Last year Hoppe won the title with 20 straight victories. This year, he had 16 victories in 17 starts, the sole less being a 50-40 decision dropped to Welker Cochran of San Francisco.

Schaefer finished in the runner-up position, the same spot he occupied last year, with 14 wins and 3 losses. Jay Bozeman of Vallejo, Cal., won third place last night by defeating Cochran, 50-32 in 26 innings.

This tied the tournament record for the shortest game, set by Hoppe, and Bozeman had a high run of 11.

Bessemer flashed its best form in the second, narrowing the gap, 18-14. Shenango regained its first quarter form and increased the lead, 25-18, at the close of the third stanza.

Brunton fired 11 points, while Pitzer popped in nine markers for the winners. Johnson and Summers were Bessemer's outstanding performers.

Rally Develops After Sweeping Decline Of Preceding Sessions

By LESLIE GOULD (International News Service Financial Writer)
NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—The stock market met support and rallied today after the sweeping decline of the preceding four sessions.
A steadier tone was apparent from the start, and early gains were extended later to more than a point in a few instances.
Rallying tendencies were at no time aggressive, however.
Special interest was in trading in Libby McNeill following announcement before the opening of termination of the syndicate which owned Swift & Co.'s holdings of 3,018,639 shares on January 29. The opening was a 5¢, off a half point on the day and comparing with the offering price of 6 1/2¢. The stock was supported later but showed little rallying power.
S. H. Kress was fractionally better after yesterday's break of more than 3 points, also following termination of an offering syndicate.
American Airlines, Union Carbide and Westinghouse advanced a point or more. Steels staged an early rally running to a point each in Bethlehem and Youngstown, but slipped somewhat later. Rails were fractionally better, as were coppers. Elsewhere small gains predominated.

Notables Speak At U. C. T. Dinner Here

Past Supreme Counselor And Past Grand Counselor Are Guests

Objects of the United Commercial Travelers of America are as great as any civic or fraternal organization functioning today, Fred S. Stratmann, Columbus, O., past supreme counsel of UCT and now manager of UCT's claim department, last night told 50 members of the New Castle council at their annual banquet in the Cathedral.

City 'Y' Helping To Get Books For War Prisoners

New Castle will share in the nation-wide effort of the Young Men's Christian Association to supply books—thousands of them—to help make time pass more swiftly for the 3,300,000 prisoners of war in Europe and America, General Secretary Robert L. Meermans announced today.

The War Prisoners' Aid committee of the national council, Meermans said, is sponsoring the effort. Chief need of the prisoners, according to Tracy Strong, general secretary of the committee, is for educational books of all kinds, classical literature, biographies, religious books and light fiction.

Meermans said Strong wrote him: "To the best of our knowledge, all countries holding prisoners are living up to the letter and spirit of the Geneva convention of 1929 which laid down regulations concerning the recreational, intellectual, cultural and moral needs of prisoners of war. The Y. M. C. A. is experiencing no difficulty in getting books through to prisoners because this service is eagerly sought by belligerents."

Book donations here should be sent to the Y. M. C. A., Meermans explained.

'Open House' At New Dormitory

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 15.—Over 100 co-eds living in Westminister college's new $235,000 Ferguson Hall for Women, will play hostesses this evening, to campus students and New Wilmington townspeople in the first "Open House" for the new housing unit, following the Westminister-Juniata basketball game.

The Westminister co-eds will be in their individual rooms and in the six sorority suites located in the new dormitory so that visitors can make a "complete" survey of the co-ed hall.

Also open for inspection will be the new $5,000 tunnel connecting Ferguson Hall with Browne Hall, another women's dormitory across the Quadrangle.

On Court House Hill

In an opinion handed down Friday, Judge W. Walter Braham disposes of some exceptions to a county treasurer's sale of property owned by the H. O. L. C.

The case originated with the H. O. L. C. taking over the property of Giovanni Di Giacomo. At the time the original loan was made in 1933 the county treasurer was asked for a list of the taxes due and in furnishing the list one year's school taxes were omitted.

In May, 1940, the present county treasurer, Earl R. Wimer, sold the property for the delinquent taxes, the sale being made to the county commissioners. The H. O. L. C. then filed exceptions to the sale arguing that it had paid all the taxes said to have been due.

In his opinion Judge Braham said that "the original and controlling principle is that when a tax is levied by competent taxing authority the land becomes bound by the lien of the tax and may be relieved thereupon only by payment or exoneration. It is the duty of the taxpayer to know the tax upon their land, to see that it is paid."

The court places the costs of the case upon the county, which means that if the school tax due in 1933 is paid, the penalties and interest since then, and the sale costs must be absorbed by the county.

A settlement has been made in part for the fire which recently damaged the court house annex. The insurance companies have agreed to $2,700 as the sum due for replacements necessary and the county commissioners have already started plans for the repair of the building. There will be an additional adjustment on books that were damaged in the office of Judge Braham and in the library of the two judges. The books will be viewed by an adjuster familiar with book values and a settlement made upon these later.

Two girls of the court house offices who were on southern trips have returned. Miss Blanche Davy of the permanent registration office, who went to Florida with her parents, is back on the job after a month's absence.

In the county treasurer's office Miss June Shoup has returned after a trip to Montgomery, Alabama and Pensacola, Fla. With her parents she went to Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., where she witnessed the graduation of her brother, Harry Shoup, now a lieutenant in the air corps. The day following his graduation he was married and has been assigned as an instructor at Maxwell Field.

In the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts John A. Edgar, Paul Budal enters suit against the Metropolitan Life Insurance company for $3,000 with interest. He claims that he held an insurance policy with the company which provided for payment in the event of permanent disability. He claims permanent disability due to injuries to his arms and asks payment of the face of the policy with interest since the time of his disability in March, 1940.

DAILY DOZEN
(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)
There is much housekeeping always to be done in industry. The health and efficiency of employees calls for a clean plant. Adequate buildings have ample window space for light and ventilation. Dust and fume removal systems overcome several health hazards. Sanitary interiors are kept clean and painted often. Safety is assured by unobstructed aisles. Too many plant sweepers hide the dust in corners or under something. Safe, healthful and profitable cleaning follows certain rules. Dust and dirt should be removed from walls, ceiling, beams, machinery. Industrial plant cleanliness has been found to be practical. It maintains the health of employees and increases efficiency. "A clean factory is a safe factory." is a good industrial slogan.

Public Health Record Is Set In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Dr. John J. Shaw, secretary of health, claimed the administration's health program during the past two years has assured Pennsylvania "the best public health record in its history."

In the third administration-ordered "fireside" address over a state-wide radio network last night, Dr. Shaw asserted that the department's battle against tuberculosis has resulted in reducing the "waiting list" at the state's sanatoria from more than 700 to approximately 350.

The Tuberculosis Control Bureau, headed by Dr. Charles R. Reynolds, former surgeon general of the U. S. Army, has increased the number of beds at sanatoria at Hamburg and Mont Alto more than 2400, Dr. Shaw said.

He added that an intensive program inaugurated by the department has succeeded in reducing the pneumonia mortality rate from 35 per cent to less than 10 per cent through the efforts of 180 pneumonia control stations scattered throughout the state. In brief, Dr. Shaw declared the war against pneumonia succeeded in saving more than 4000 lives in 1940 through the use of new drugs.
